

GOLFTEC Singapore Announces New Accelerated Program for Aspiring Golfers

GOLFTEC Singapore, the leader in golf improvement through technology and expert coaching, today launched its new "Course Ready" series, a structured curriculum designed to take beginners from their first swing to confident course play. This innovative program directly addresses the growing demand for accessible, effective entry into the sport, utilizing GOLFTEC's proven method of personalized instruction and state-of-the-art swing analysis.

The "Course Ready" program is a comprehensive package that includes 20 customized lessons, practice sessions in GOLFTEC's patented swing bays with motion measurement, and on-course playing lessons. The curriculum is segmented into clear phases: building fundamentals, developing consistency, learning course management, and etiquette. This holistic approach ensures students are technically sound and practically prepared. Recognizing the busy lifestyles of Singapore residents, the program offers flexible scheduling at GOLFTEC's centrally located centers, making a structured golf classes Singapore offering more convenient than ever.

A key differentiator is GOLFTEC's commitment to data. Each student's progress is tracked using digital video and motion capture, providing objective benchmarks for improvement. This removes the guesswork from learning and allows coaches to tailor each lesson to the student's immediate needs. "Our goal is to demystify the learning process. With our technology, we can show a student exactly why a shot behaved a certain way and provide a clear drill to correct it. This accelerated feedback loop is what makes our golf classes Singapore stand out," said Mr. David Chen, Head Coach at GOLFTEC Singapore. "We're not just teaching swings; we're building competent, confident golfers ready to enjoy everything Singapore's beautiful courses have to offer."

The launch of the "Course Ready" series underscores GOLFTEC's mission to grow the game in Singapore by lowering the barrier to entry. For new golfers seeking a clear, supported pathway, these structured golf classes Singapore represent the most efficient investment in their golfing future. The program is now available for enrollment at all GOLFTEC Singapore locations.
